We Get Quoted

at Length in the Chicago Tribune

It seems that this writer's observations on the newspaper business in his column January 18 celebrating a 25-year partnership with C. E. Palmer in The Star had the quality of timelessness which caught a metropolitan editor's eye.

Anyway, it got all of us — C. E. Palmer, Hope, and me — half a column in the Chicago Tribune.

I didn't know about it until, curiously enough, the news reached me by way of Des Moines, Iowa. A letter postmarked March 8 came from the Des Moines Register and Tribune where an old friend, A. Parker Mize, is news editor of the evening Tribune. Scrawled in Mize's bold handwriting was this note:

"A voice out of the past croaks 'Congratulations.' PARKER MIZE."

There were two enclosures. One was the clipping repeating much of our anniversary editorial; and the other a letter to Mize from Ken Clayton of the Chicago Tribune asking: "Isn't this a pal of yours?"

And so Mize forwarded it all to me — calling to my mind the day he joined the staff in El Dorado the spring of 1928, when I was editor of the Daily News and Evening Times.

There is always something grimly amusing to a newspaper shop when bright, brash youngsters jauntily arrive from the university. All newspaper folks have tender necks when they are young, and many are broken. And Mize was all smiles and sunlight that June day in 1928 when he breezed into the News-Times with a suitcase covered with University of Missouri stickers and an energetic and confident air.

We didn't know it, then, but we should have guessed — he was also a lieutenant in the Alabama National Guard, and believed implicitly in the American flag and his home town of Tuscaloosa.

If I reserved judgment on the newcomer it was because, first, the top guy in any outfit always reserves judgment, and second, I didn't have to think back very far to recall that only five years before I myself had walked into that same office with an equally-labeled suitcase, a Northern accent — and a dog.

But then Mize's copy started coming across the desk — and he was good. An editor never needs to check with the shop on that score. Newspaper folks recognize good copy without consultation. Mize and I were together for a year. Then C. E. Palmer and I bought the Hope papers and consolidated them; I came here — and pretty soon Mize moved to the Big Time in Des Moines. Now he is news editor of a nationally-known paper.

A success story for a good and deserving guy.

And just to show you what a small place America really is, when Thomas C. Jobe and I went to Miami, Fla., in January 1942, just before the draft started stripping The Star of all its men except this "retread," I put on a screen show of Kodachrome pictures in the Patricia hotel in Miami Beach. One old couple came up to thank Tommy and me, and in the conversation I discovered they were from Tuscaloosa, Ala. I asked them if they knew Mize.

Slightly, they did — they were his uncle and aunt.

Arkansas Not Worried Over Segregation

ATLANTA (AP) — Most of the 13 southern states which maintain separate white and Negro schools are calmly awaiting a United States Supreme Court ruling on public school segregation.

A survey today showed that only in Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, and Mississippi is there any serious effort to devise means of circumventing a decision outlawing segregation.

Virginia, Louisiana, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Kentucky, Florida, and Texas are doing nothing of maintaining a "wait and see" attitude.

As it has been doing for several years Arkansas is going ahead with efforts to equalize white and Negro schools, and Tennessee authorities are saying as little as possible about the segregation problem.

Jefferson County Judge Succumbs

FINE BLUFF (AP) — Jefferson County Judge Wiley C. Rountree died at his home here today after several months of extreme illness. He was 60 years old.

Rountree was elected judge of Jefferson County in 1945 after he had served a number of years as deputy county clerk and as an insurance agent in the county.

He was born in Bigdon, Tex., which is now Naples, Tex., and came here with his parents when just a child. His mother, Mrs. W. B. Rountree still lives here.

In addition to his mother, he also is survived by his widow, Mrs. Geraldine E. Clark Rountree; two sons and three daughters. Funeral services will be held here at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Watermelon Acreage to Be Reduced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Early estimates showed today that Arkansas' strawberry and watermelon crop acreage this year will be reduced greatly from that of 1953.

The State Crop Reporting service said strawberry acreage currently is estimated at 6,400 acres, 75 per cent of the 1953 acreage and 40 per cent less than the $949-1952 average.

Growers indicated that 10,200 acres of watermelons will be planted this year, a drop of 15 percent from last year, the service said.

A hot, dry summer last year took a heavy toll of strawberry beds, the service said, and many others were abandoned or have poor stands. The heaviest loss was in White County, the service reported.

P&R Announces Ping Pong Tourney Here March 19

The Parks and Recreation Department is holding a junior and adult ping pong tournament in the Youth Center Building the night of March 19 at 8 o'clock.

Word has been going around that Hope has some pretty "hot" ping pong players and the P&R committee hopes that all interested players or potential players will enter the tournament.

Entry fee will be 50 cents per person and players may register at Herbert Burns, Lewis McLarty, Cox Drug Store and the Ladies Specialty Shop.

Providing there are enough entrants, the tournament will be divided into a Junior and Senior division. Spectators are invited to attend.

Work Below Narrows in Approved Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee yesterday approved a bill providing nine million dollars for river developments in Arkansas.

If the appropriation is passed by the House and Senate, the funds will be available for use in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The House is to begin debate on the bill Monday.

A total $45,200,000 was proposed for flood control work on the lower Mississippi River and its tributaries and $3,421,000 of that amount was slated for Arkansas.

The St. Francis River Basin would get $730,000; the Lower White River $205,000; and the lower Arkansas River $480,000.

Other appropriations approved by the House committee include three million dollars for navigation projects on the Arkansas River and its tributaries.

Flood control projects: Little Missouri River below Monticello, Ark., $492,000.

Red River levees, Ark., Texas and La. $335,000.

The committee also allocated $160,000 for the Multiple Purpose dam at Blakely Mountain Reservoir.

The committee approved resumption of the Table Rock Dam on the White River in Missouri near the Arkansas border — with certain limitations — and approved three million dollars for the Texarkana Reservoir in Texas.

Included in the bill was an allowance of $2,410,000 for surveys and preliminary examinations. Under this category the committee said it has allowed funds to complete the Arkansas-White-Red River Basin Survey.

The committee's recommended national total of $410,333,000 was about 7 1/2 per cent below President Eisenhower's budget proposals.

Slayer Gets Stay From Gov. Cherry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Indian Bill Jenkins, convicted shotgun slayer of a teen-aged girl, has won another reprieve from the Arkansas electric chair while his lawyers take their fight for his life to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Gov. Francis Cherry yesterday postponed Jenkins' scheduled execution from this morning to April 30. It was the fifth stay for the Choctaw Indian since he entered the death house last year.

Cherry acted after U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark has refused to grant a stay, and Jenkins' chief attorney, State Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst, petitioned the full court for a review of the case.

The governor said an official of the Supreme Court told him by telephone that the court would consider the case on April 5.

Gas Employees Told of Ever Rising Cost

Although natural gas is more plentiful than ever before in the Southwest, its price is rising steadily, R. W. Curran, Little Rock, division manager for Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, said here yesterday at a meeting held by company officials to report on the company's activities in 1953 and its expansion plans for 1954.

Curran said that competition for natural gas reserves in Texas and Louisiana by the long-distance transmission lines has been largely responsible for an increase of 125 per cent since 1949 in the average price which Arkansas' Louisiana pays for gas it purchases in the fields. This is expected to call for a complete re-examination of the company's plans for the future, Curran said.

"In terms of dollars and cents," Curran said, "your company's bill for gas purchases rose from $4,000,000 annually in 1949 to more than $13,000,000 in 1953, and the peak of the rising costs are not yet in sight."

"There will be no shortage of gas," he said, "because the price has increased, producers have had a greater incentive to find more gas and that is exactly what is happening."

Curran reported that Arkansas Louisiana now has 2,121 employees serving 224,425 customers, an average of one employee for each 105 customers. During 1953 the company extended gas service to 73 new real estate subdivisions.

In addition, gas service was provided for the towns of Calion and Hampton, Ark., and construction is under way at Foreman.

Beginning in 1953 Arkansas Louisiana launched an expansion program calling for an expenditure of nearly $35,000,000 to extend over three years, Curran said.

"Gas utility companies, being regulated by state Public Service Commissions, can not accumulate cash reserves sufficient to pay for such expansion and therefore must borrow most of this money from investors," Curran said. "To attract investors we must provide them with a reasonable rate of return on their money."

Other company officials taking part in the meeting were J. C. Hamilton, Arkansas Louisiana vice president; W. M. Little, superintendent of distribution; John Taylor, assistant superintendent of the Pipeline Department, all of Shreveport, and George B. Tyler, manager of the New Business Department. Fred Gresham, Hope manager, presided.

Company employees from the following towns attended: Stamps, Prescott, Gurdon, Nashville, Ashdown, Mineral Springs, Washington, and Lewisville.

U. S. Firm in Demands for Anti-Red Plan

By DONALD J. GONZALES

CARACAS, Venezuela (UP) — The United States stood firm today behind its demand for a clear-cut condemnation of communism in the Western Hemisphere, ignoring protests from Red-influenced Guatemala and "councils of despair" from Argentina and Mexico.

All three Latin American nations contend the U. S. resolution now awaiting action by the 10th Inter-American conference here might be used as a pretext for American "intervention" in the affairs of nations south of the border.

Guatemala has flatly rejected the U. S. plan, and Argentina and Mexico favors amendment of the resolution.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it clear yesterday that the United States will not willingly accept any compromise in its efforts to get the nations of the hemisphere clearly on record against communism.

Schine Now Treated Like a Soldier

CAMP GORDON, Ga., (UP) — Pvt. G. David Schine, whose reported special favors while at Ft. Dix, N. J., raised a controversy, is being treated like "any other soldier" here.

Assurances have come from Schine himself, his immediate superiors and two army officials that the former investigator of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) is not getting any preferential treatment.

Schine 26, could not be reached for comment last night on the army's report that McCarthy's chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, sought special treatment for him because Schine was camping out on a bivouac.

But after Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) first raised the issue of treatment he got at Ft. Dix, Schine told newsmen that he is now "just a private in the army."

Schine said he has been treated just like any other soldier since his transfer from Ft. Dix nearly six weeks ago for eight weeks of basic training with a military police training regiment.

Brig. Gen. L. W. Truman, Third Army chief of staff, added in a statement from his headquarters at Ft. McPherson, Ga., that Schine "has had no preferential treatment as long as he has been in the Third Army area."

"He is treated just like John Jones," Truman said.

Prevention of French Deal to Cost U. S.

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Evidence was piling up today that the American taxpayer will have to pay dearly to prevent France from negotiating an unsure peace or appeasement in Indochina.

The powers will meet in Geneva next month with Red China present to seek a political peace for Korea. Next on the Geneva schedule will be Indochina.

U. S. Diplomats are convinced that a negotiated peace in Indochina now would lead to Communist domination of that vital area and surely, a further Red expansion in Asia. United States policy will be, the United Press was informed:

1. To avoid a negotiated peace on any basis seeming now to be even remotely possible.

2. To keep France in Indochina.

3. To help create a situation there which will encourage the natives to fight against communism.

4. To help sell the belated French independence offer to the people of the area.

Officials familiar with the situation report that the French program for training native troops is a farce. The French, however, have rejected United States offers to do the training.

There is powerful French sentiment for getting out of the Indochinese war which is no more popular among Frenchmen than was the Korean war among Americans. This pressure had great impact upon the recent Berlin conference of foreign ministers which failed in all of its major objectives but did come up with the Geneva conference plan.

Soviet Russia's ready acceptance of the Geneva idea may have been motivated by belief that the Communists would hold most of the Geneva trumps. The Communist position has been strengthened since the Berlin conference by increased French agitation for a negotiated peace and some evidence that the British lean that way.

It is the American purpose to give the French all the material aid they can absorb in Indochina. Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen returned from Indochina earlier this month said on March 6 more than $1,000,000,000 more would be poured into the war there.

Committee Asks Report on McCarthy's Friend; Senator Cries Blackmail

Bulletin

E. E. Davis, member of a demolition squad now working in the old Southwestern Proving Ground, was seriously burned about 11:30 a. m. today when a 105 MM shell partially exploded.

He suffered first degree burns about the face and a badly injured hand. After being treated at Julia Chester Hospital he was taken to the Army and Navy Hospital at Hot Springs.

Davis was with five others and engaged in dismantling the 105 which had been found in a farm-ers field. Some part of the shell, probably the detonator, went off without setting off the main charge.

Capt. Kerwin, in charge of the crew here, said if the whole shell had exploded it would have killed all six of them.

Statehood Bill Linked by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 46-43 late yesterday to link together statehood bills of Hawaii and Alaska, a move which would have been a vote of reaching agreement on an uneasy vote on the combined bill.

He announced the statehood legislation would be laid aside today, and possibly early next week for other matters. Sen. Smithers (D-Fla.), who opposed statehood for either territory, said he knew of "at least 10 senators who want to debate the matter fully."

Opinion was divided as to whether the combined bill will pass the Senate with both sides preceding another close vote.

In the 46-43 vote, three Republicans.

Agri Dept. Having Some Fast Innings

By OVID A. MARIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employees of the Department of Agriculture are getting the chance to run through a fast few innings of baseball — sort of — during working hours. It's all in the line of duty, the duty to treat the public right over the telephone.

Pressing for more polite and efficient telephone practices, the department is asking its employees to fill out questionnaires and score forms, all dressed up in baseball lingo.

For example: Is Dopkes here the sort who pounces on the phone before it has a chance to ring a second time? Then crack, whistle he has beat out a home run. Under the rules of the agriculture diamond, no slaving copy of those prevailing in Yankee Stadium and elsewhere, he can rack up eight points for himself.

On the other hand, those same rules deal harshly with double, or triple, plays:

"Do you, instead of transferring calls to others who might also pass the buck, get the information and call back?"

The unfortunate who cannot answer the question will be penalized.

Cohn Highly Controversial Subject

By TED LEWIS JR.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Roy M. Cohn, youthful chief counsel for the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee, today became almost as controversial as the man who appointed him, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Cohn, a stocky 26-year-old New Yorker of medium height, joined the subcommittee Jan. 14, 1953. He soon attracted national attention when he made an investigating tour of Europe with his subcommittee aide, David Schine.

European newspapers generally denounced the pair and a State Department official, who has since resigned, labeled them "a pair of junketeering gumshoes."

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) later called them the "Key-stone cops."

Cohn became embroiled in another major controversy today as the army issued a report charging he tried to get favorable treatment for Schine who was drafted last fall.

Despite his youth, Cohn is a veteran investigator and an expert on subversion.

He was an assistant U. S. attorney in New York before McCarthy selected him as chief counsel in early 1953. While with the Department of Justice, he prosecuted over 100 cases, taking an active part in the prosecutions of William Remington, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, Frederick V. Field and others.

Feels Increase in Debt Limit Now Justified

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Williams (R-Del.) said today Congress members who back major cuts in taxes this year should be willing to support an equivalent increase in the national debt limit.

"We should make it very clear to the people," he said in an interview, "that any tax cut we are giving them must be paid for by borrowed money."

That is true, he said, because the Eisenhower administration has forecast a deficit of $3,200,000,000 for the current financial year ending June 30 and $2,900,000,000 for the next year.

Williams came out against the 912 million dollars worth of excess cuts included in a bill passed overwhelmingly by the House Wednesday. The administration is fighting the cuts.

Sought Favors for Drafted Aide, Army Says

By HERBERT FOSBER

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today accused the army of trying to "blackmail" him into calling off an investigation of Communists.

That was McCarthy's charge in a 34-page army report that McCarthy's subcommittee aide, Roy M. Cohn, threatened to "blackmail" the army if the army did not give social favors to Cohn's aide, David Schine, who was drafted into the army as a private last fall and is still a private.

Cohn, sitting beside McCarthy at a news conference, today made any such "blackmail" himself at one time tried to the army to give Schine a commission, but at other times called him a "pest" and told army to pay no attention to Cohn's demands.

McCarthy made his statement after a Republican member of the subcommittee, Sen. Charles Potter (Mich.) demanded Cohn be fired if the army are true.

The three Democrats on the subcommittee — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), Henry M. Jackson (Wash.), and Stuart Symington (Mo.) — a joint statement that the "revelations should encourage prompt attention to the army's early meeting to discuss the report."

McCarthy said Army Chief John G. Adams came to his apartment in December and told him "not to say any more words" that the army was coming out of Schine's "anxious" disclosure of McCarthy's subcommittee less the group dropped its investigation of alleged Communist infiltration of the Missouri National Guard.

Cohn told the United States has "not resigned" over the resign.

Dissatisfied With Flood Control Funds

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — An appropriation of $45,000,000 for flood control work on the lower Mississippi river and tributaries has been approved by a House Appropriations subcommittee, Rep. Pashman (DLA) said today.

The full Appropriations Committee was expected to okay the amount later today and include it in a bill providing money for flood control and navigation projects in the year starting July 1.

The amount approved is what President Eisenhower budgeted. It is 11 million dollars under the amount asked by the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Association.

Pashman, who is president of the association, said: "I am not satisfied with it but I realize that it is the best we are going to have economy and tax relief, projects in which I am interested will have to be cut some."

Sens. Ellender (DLA) and McClellan (DARK) members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, have indicated they are dissatisfied with the amount Eisenhower budgeted.

The bill, before the committee today, contained no breakdown of the lower Mississippi fund but Army engineers have then proposed to allocate the $45,000,000 as follows: Mississippi River levees $855,000,

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP) — Cotton futures were mostly higher in moderately active dealings today. Mill and export covering readily absorbed hedging and profit taking.

Some commission house demand was influenced by tightening spot cotton supplies, reflecting the loan program. Switching from nearby March was extensive as spot firms transferred hedges into old crop May and July, prior to expiration of trading in March contracts on Monday.

Late afternoon prices were 35 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower than the previous close, March 34.02, May 34.57 and July 34.55.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP) — The stock market moved on ahead into new high ground today from the 24 year peak established yesterday.

It started rather slowly but higher. The pace of trading increased sharply in the morning, and prices held stable. In the early afternoon, however, many stocks began to back down from their best.

Prices spread out over a range of around a point either way with only occasional exceptions such as Douglas Aircraft which was up between 2 and 3 points at times.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP) — Wheat prices advanced on the Board of Trade today even though some week end evening up operations near the close cut early gains.

In back of the wheat upturn was a storm over much of the winter wheat belt, from which area came many reports of blowing dust in the air. Also creating some demand for wheat was news the Commodity Credit Corp. was exchanging some of its hard wheat for red wheat.

Soybeans had gains extending to nearly 5 cents at one time. Wheat closed 17-1/2 higher, March $2.30, corn 3-1/4 higher, March $1.54, oats unchanged to higher, March 77, rye 1 to 1-1/2 higher, March 1.19-1/2, and soybeans 1 to 3-1/4 higher, March $3.50-1/2.

about Cohn's influence attempts is "false." He said "I believe in what Roy Cohn has told me." The Wisconsin Republican said "as far as I'm concerned, I hope Roy Cohn will be around Capitol Hill for a long time fighting Communist infiltration. I don't think anyone is disliked more by the Communists than Roy Cohn unless it is (FBI Director) J. Edgar Hoover."

McCarthy gave newsmen documents which he said represented the McCarthy-Cohn side of the dispute.

He also read a telegram he said he sent this morning to army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, calling on Stevens to tell the press that "the only time you and I discussed a commission for Schine was in his presence."

"I urged, and you fully agreed, that his case had to be treated the same as any other draftee," the telegram said. "We agreed that any other handling, in view of the investigation of the army, would be extremely bad for both the committee and the army."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four members of Senator McCarthy's (R-Wis) permanent Senate Investigations subcommittee — three Democrats and a Republican — today asked for an early meeting to consider an Army report charging that McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, applied pressure for social treatment of a drafted aide.

And the Senate Republican leadership indicated a disposition — at least for the moment — to leave the matter in the subcommittee's hands.

The sequence of developments, following disclosure of the Army report by Senate sources last night, was this:

1. Gen. Potter (R-Mich.) — a member of McCarthy's subcommittee — called a news conference and announced he had asked McCarthy to call a closed session of the group to go into "all the facts."

Potter said Cohn should be removed if what he called the "shocking charges" against the 2-year-old committee counsel were true. The Army report said Cohn had voiced threats that Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens would be "through" and the Army "wrecked" if Private G. David Schine were sent overseas. Schine, a pal of Cohn, was a committee consultant until he was drafted last fall.

2. The three Democratic members — Sens. McClellan of Arkansas, Symington of Missouri, and Jackson of Washington — got out a joint statement saying "we assume" McCarthy will call an early meeting.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told newsmen he would think the "committee itself" would go into the matter fully and develop the facts.

"I think both the Senate and the country would expect them to do that," he said.

Knowland noted that Potter already had called for a full inquiry. McClellan read the Democratic members' statement at an impromptu news conference in his office. Symington was not present, but Jackson sat beside McClellan.

If the self-scoring makes 90 points or more in answering the questions, he may term himself a big leaguer. Between 80 and 90 points puts him in the bush league class; 70 to 80 in the sandlot division. If he scores under 70 points, he must mark himself "benched" that is, for scoring purposes.

Semifinal Play Starts in Class B Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The cream of Arkansas' small high school basketball teams meet here tonight to decide the two finalists in the state Class B tournament for senior boys.

Luxora tangles with Valley Springs in the opening contest of the tournament's semi-finals, with Oden meeting Watson Chapel in the nightcap.

The four squads advanced to the next-to-last round yesterday with victories in the quarterfinals.

High-scoring Oden, paced by Billy Abernathy and Marc Wilson, routed Parkin 74-61. Wilson sank 21 points and Abernathy added 20 tallies to sink the hard-hitting Oden attack that never allowed Parkin to offer a serious threat. Watson Chapel, another team with a highly geared offense, found an easy mark in Vilonia, and coasted to a 64-51 decision after building up an insurmountable lead early in the contest.

Valley Springs, three-time winners of the state Class B crown got a scare, but turned on the steam in the closing minutes to edge Coal Hill 45-48. The lead changed hands 17 times and the score was tied 10 times during the close contest.

With Quilman Sullens hitting 24 points, Luxora found little trouble in belting Tillar out of the tournament by a lopsided 54-39 count.

Cuban Favored to Defeat Parker

BY MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Strapping Nino Valdes of Cuba is a 3-1 favorite to beat Canadian-born James J. Parker at Madison Square Garden tonight and you never saw a happier underdog.

"The way the favorites have been beaten recently, it's a pleasure to be so lightly regarded," said Parker.

The 6-foot-3, 210-pound Paterson, N. J., heavyweight was referring to the string of upsets in the last seven days of television headline fights. Paddy DeMarco whipped lightweight champion Jimmy Carter in the Garden last Friday night at 4-1 odds, Ralph Tiger Jones stopped the 2-1 favored Bobby Dykes Monday, and Bobb Jones outpointed Gil Turner 3-1 Wednesday night.

Speaking of ballplayers and their money, we learn that they finally have emerged victorious in the long and stubborn battle with the income tax collector concerning the necessity of maintaining two homes during the season.

"All three were entirely different," he says. "All Feller wanted to do was rear back and throw. He never liked to try a change of pace — had no confidence in it. Newhouse — was a beautiful, smooth workman who gave a batter a little of everything. Roberts is more like Newhouse than Feller, but he's easier to handle than either of them. When he's right you don't have to worry about anything, or just and him the ball and sit back and you know he'll likely pitch you a complete game."

When he's right you don't have to worry about anything, or just and him the ball and sit back and you know he'll likely pitch you a complete game."

Steve O'Neill of the Phillies has had the unique distinction of managing the three pitchers widely regarded as the greatest over the past dozen or so years — Bobby Feller at Cleveland, Hal Newhouse at Detroit and now Robin Roberts.

"All three were entirely different," he says. "All Feller wanted to do was rear back and throw. He never liked to try a change of pace — had no confidence in it. Newhouse — was a beautiful, smooth workman who gave a batter a little of everything. Roberts is more like Newhouse than Feller, but he's easier to handle than either of them. When he's right you don't have to worry about anything, or just and him the ball and sit back and you know he'll likely pitch you a complete game."

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

"Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, said Jesus (John 12:24). 'It abideth alone but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.'"

These words were to have their supreme illustration in His own life and death for His death on the Cross has brought forth much fruit.

But Jesus laid it down as a law of the spiritual world that "whoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for My sake shall find it" (Matthew 16:25; John 12:25).

Jesus spoke these words as He was facing the Cross, in an hour which, for the disciples as well as the prospect, was one of risk, danger and possible death.

It has meant no less for multitudes of Christian martyrs, whose blood traditionally has been "the seed of the Church."

Is the Christian life, then, only a life of martyrdom? And are we, who are situated in areas where there is little danger of our dying for our faith, excluded from the life that is found through sacrifice?

It would seem under the time and circumstances that Jesus may have been referring to the actual giving up of physical life, the death of earth and time in contrast with keeping life "unto life eternal" (John 12:25).

But I think His words have a deeper and more general application to normal Christian living. Saint Paul suggested this when he wrote in I Corinthians 15:31, "I die daily."

What Paul meant by that is brought out in Galatians 2:20, where he says: "I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me; and the life that I now live in the flesh"

Reporter Almost Misses the News

CLARKSVILLE (AP) — Mrs. Norman Marvel, a 19-year-old newspaper woman here, stopped by her doctor's office recently while making a routine tour of her beat.

The physician took one glance and sent her to the hospital.

Two hours later she was the mother of a five-pound boy.

Indians in what is now Colombia were waterproofing their clothing by daubing them with juice of wild rubber trees long before Columbus discovered America.

I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave Himself for me.

To read those words is to realize the source and secret of the strength of that Apostle, the firmness of will that could keep him fearless and undismayed under persecution and the threat of death (See Acts 20:24).

All that had pertained to his master, Paul shared, and in that sharing he found as he said, the power of Christ in him, and in whom he lived.

That experience is so deep so vast, so overwhelming that I suppose few of us attain it. Yet such knowledge of Christ can bring strength and joy such as has been brought to many humble souls as well as well as outstanding saints.

Perhaps the mistake that most of us make is in failing to share all the experiences of the Christ as Paul did. We walk with Jesus in the fields; we listen as He talks in the villages with the common people who hear Him gladly; we watch as He blesses the little children.

But we shrink from following to the Cross even as Mary, His mother, did (see John 19:25). Yet the secret of the fullness of life is in going all the way. He that loathes his life shall find it.

CHRISTIANITY IS THE ROAD to the solution of the perplexing problems of the hour.

THE CHURCH and their messages are the guide posts on this road.

THE PUBLIC SPIRITED FIRMS listed on this page urge church support and attendance — this working toward a greater and more spiritual community in which to live and rear our families.

STOP!

That means you. But to stop is almost a lost art among us. He said, "Be still and know that I am God." We must stop, and realize we are eternal children, on the way to destiny beyond the stars. Just as there must be "rests" in music, to give it phrasing and color, so must man "pause" with God, to receive refreshment of soul...we must go to church.

It is important then to STOP for His counsel; LOOK for His direction, and LISTEN to His pleading. There are warnings aplenty on the road of life. The tallest church steeple is a compelling force in your community...IT INVITES YOU.
